Mr. De Witt, in the course of his remarks, referred as follows to the Greater New-York bill:

The quality and the effect of this measure will depend upon the manner of its execution, or the charcacter of the charter to be devised. If all the cities that are to comprise Greater New-York are to be unfield by a reckless and sweeping enactment, giving to one Common Council, with one Mayor, common jurisdiction over every subject of municipal administration, it will prove an unmitigated curse. I have, however, no fear of that result.

But I wan my fellow-oillizens that it is not in the alteration or enlargement! of governmental or municipal systems that popularity is to be attained. The thrift and wealth of cities take their rise in far different regions. Commerce is the paramount and controlling source of metropolitan and National prosperity. Even to commerce with India may be inaced the weath and enlightenment of cities. Along the courses of trade did dynasties rise and fall.

Some of those present were John P. Schuchman, Leonard A. Giegerich, Augustus Van Wyck, Nathaniel H. Clement, John Henry McCarthy, Willard Bartlett, George B. Abbott, William J. Osborne, Lawrence J. NO WRIT FOR M'KEEVER.

JUSTICE OSEORNE HANDS DOWN A DECISION SUPERSEDING THE ONE ISSUED.

Justice Osborne, of the Supreme Court, handed down a decision yesterday afternoon superseding the writ of certiorari obtained by Edward H. McKeever and brother, directed to City Works Commissioner Willis, to review his proceedings in rejecting the bids for street cleaning. The Mc-Keevers' bid was the lowest, and they made the claim that they ought to have the contract.

After the writ was obtained, Corporation Counsel Burr moved to quash it, and in his opinion handed down yesterday Justice Osborne says.

Being, therefore, of the opinion that the action or determination of the Commissioner in rejecting all the bids, including that of the relator's firm, was within the powers conferred upon him by the statute, and that, in the exercise of that power, he acted in a purely ministerial capacity, it follows that certiorari will not lie to review his action.

nt is claimed on behalf of the relator that the motion to quash the writ is premature, and that it cannot be made till the return is filed, and the authorities seem to support that contention. As, however, the respondent also moves "for such other and further relief as may be proper," under this prayer, he is entitled to an order to supersede the writ.

SHEVANTIBAI DID NOT SPEAK.

MEMBERS OF THE BROOKLYN RAMABAI CIRCLE WERE DISAPPOINTED LAST NIGHT.

The Brooklyn Ramabal Circle held its annual meeting last night in the Pouch Gallery, No. 345 Clinton-ave. The Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott presided. After the report of the secretary had been read and adopted, and the report of the treasurer had been referred to the Auditing Committee, the officers of last year were re-elected. Before introducing the speakers, Dr. Abbott said he wished first to make an apology, and then a brief word of introduction. His apology was for Shevantibal, wife of the Rev. Madhavarev Nikambe, who was announced to speak. Dr. Abbott said there wers undoubtedly times when speech was silver and silence golden, but that time was not when a person failed to keep an appoint-ment to deliver an address. Shevantibal had not been announced without due consultation and with-

been announced without due consultation and without her authority, and yet without any reason except the fulfilling of a religious vow, for which she had given no particular reason, she had disappointed the officers of the society.

In speaking of the difference between paganism and Christianity he said that no religion was to be judged by its professions, but rather by its work upon its professors. Pagan religion never built hospitals nor almshouses, nor educational institutions, nor any other works calculated to be heneficial to the public. Christianity did all those things. Paganism either sought to escape the wrath of angry gods, to obtain the favor of corruptible gods, or to arouse the interest of indifferent gods. Christianity, on the contrary, through love, endeavored to bring man into fellowship with his Maker. He then introduced the Rev. John Scudder, of New-Jersey, who spoke briefly upon India and the work of the Ramabai Circle, and he was followed by Babo S. C. K.
Rutnam, a native Hindoo.

SERGEANT COLLINS'S PROMOTION.

Sergeant Thomas H. Collins was appointed yes terday by Commissioner Welles as commander of the new Twenty-third Sub-Precinct Station recently established. Sergeant Collins was appointed on the force December 17, 1874. On June 23, 1884, he was made a roundsman, and he has been a sergeant since September, 1887. His appointment was made chiefly on the recommendation of Superintendent chiefly on the recommendation of Superintendent McKelvey, who regards him as one of the most intelligent and able officers on the force. Sergeant Collins was at one time a land surveyor, and shortly before he joined the police force assisted in surveying the ground included in his precinct. Until the new station-house for the Twenty-third Sub-Precinct is opened, Sergeant Collins will be in command of twenty men and twelve mounted officers. Two sergeants and two roundsmen will be appointed to assist him. In politics Sergeant Collins has at various times declared allegiance to both parties. MEDALS FOR BRAVE MEN.

He said that when he left five years ago bleycles were little used, and appendicitis was a comparatively unknown malady. He could not affirm what relation they might have to each other, but the connection was significant.

THEY DO NOT LIKE THE BILL.

COMMISSIONER WILLIS AND HIS ASSISTANTS DID NOT BELIEVE MR. BURR'S MEASURE WOULD PASS.

The news of the passage of Assemblyman Burr's bill, prohibiting Brooklyn from taking water from lk County, was not received with marked manifestations of joy in the Department of City Works yesterday. It was not believed by Commissioner Willis and his asistants that the present bil would pass. While its passage might not have any present effect, it would, in the long run, prove some future date must draw a large part of its water supply from the central and eastern parts of the Department of City Works, gave this ex planation of the bill to a Tribune reporter yester-day: "We do not believe that the measure will pass. A bill like it failed last year, and I doubt it this bill will be more successful. Its provisions are unreasonable from our point of view. It would not be Brooklyn's intention, in any case, to secure the entire water supply of Suffolk County. We would not take so much water that any damage could possibly be done there, and the effects would be no more serious upon Suffolk than they are now upon Queens County. The passage of the b'll would not actually make it impossible for Brooklyn to get water from Suffolk County, but would enable the Supervisors of the county to impose terms which would be practically prohibitory. Even it the bill should pass, we are not likely to call upon Suffolk for any part of our supply at present. For this reason we are not vorrying about the bill." this bill will be more successful.
